The consistent efficiency of two-stage heating.

Thanks to its two-stage heating, the 95AF2V is the most efficient gas furnace in the Aire-Flo® lineup. Two different levels of heat mean the 95AF2V can operate at a lower output during milder weather, switching to a more intense heat level when the weather becomes colder. Since it's flexible enough to switch as needed, you end up using less fuel throughout the winter, and enjoying more efficient comfort.

Variable speed means more consistent comfort.

The variable speed fan motor found in the 95AF2V helps create more even warmth throughout your home. By starting up slowly, the 95AF2V can operate with reduced noise levels, while also reducing cold blasts of air as the furnace starts up.
